

Events

Exchanging quantity for quality

Risk management is an important aspect of organizing any event. The emergency plan will form the basis of the organization of the entire event. With the increasing threat of attacks, the current response has consisted of increasing the amount of security guards at event locations. According to X-Guard it would be more effective to increase the quality of the security, instead of the quantity.

At the moment only security guards are sufficiently equipped to sound the alarm in emergency situations. With X-Guard you as an employee will also hold that power, and your name and location will automatically be promulgated to the closest emergency services. This increased the eyes and ears available in your company capable of preventing emergency situations, which allows for less guards that are of higher quality to be hired.
